Reference: Add-on Modules for Ignition

To Whom It May Concern:

Automation Professionals is pleased to offer a variety of Ignition Add-on Module for your project requirements, as listed below. Automation Professionals follows Inductive Automation's pricing policy for redundant server pairs – the license or feature code price for a backup server is 50% that of the primary server.

Discounts

Automation Professionals extends discounts to large corporate customers, Ignition distributors, and Ignition integrators at the same level offered by Inductive Automation. You must authorize Inductive Automation to share your discount level to qualify.

If not receiving a corporate, distributor, or integrator discount, you may take a bulk discount of 10% of the list price when purchasing ten (10) or more module licenses together, in any combination, including backup server licenses.

Purchasing

To qualify for Purchase Order privileges, and the above discounts, a suitable sales and use tax exemption certificate, sales and use tax direct-pay certificate, or corresponding documentation for your jurisdiction must be provided. All others will be charged list price, have sales tax added, and will be invoiced via PayPal Merchant Services. (Note that a PayPal account is not required for your use of common credit/debit cards.)

If sales and use tax exemption documentation is provided, you may elect PayPal invoicing in lieu of a Purchase Order, with sales tax omitted and discounts applied.

Refunds

Automation Professionals offers refunds/cancellation on purchases up to ten (10) business days after a license is issued, with the following conditions:

- If already activated, the buyer must "un-activate" the license via the normal Inductive Automation licensing process.
- Funds transfer fees and/or postage will be deducted from any refund. The refund payment will use the same method as the payment received.
- Automation Professionals reserves the right to hold a refund up to ten (10) business days if there is any possibility of fraud.

Support

Automation Professionals offers free email support on a best-effort basis. Customers who have made recent purchases have priority over others.

Upgrades

Customers may request a free major-version upgrade for one calendar year after a license is issued. Otherwise, licenses may be upgraded one major version increment for 25% of the currently applicable pricing. Any older licenses may be upgraded for 50% of the currently applicable pricing.
